INTRODUCTION

In compiling this history of the Tillman family the author has consulted family Bibles, Census returns of the Federal Government from 1790 to 1870, and documents in the Library of Congress in Washington. In addition there has been considered the many traditions of the families concerned. The major credit for the development of the manuscript should be accorded Mr. James D. Tillman, Jr., of Meridian, Miss. He spent more than 30 years in gathering data, and, while not in possession of the facilities of the author, nevertheless did succeed in developing the basic manuscript. It is intended to maintain a continual research for family data. Therefore the author will be most appreciative of information at any time.

THE FIRST SETTLER

We first find a record of the Tillman family in America in 1638 when Christopher Tillman came to Virginia from England. (See Greer's Early Virginia Emigrants.) Nothing has been found among early Virginia records concerning Christopher Tillman, but an old tradition in the family, as told the author at the 1930 reunion of the family, has it that Christopher left three sons. They were: Gideon, Roger, and John. Unfortunately, the records of many of the southern States have been totally or partially destroyed, thus making it impossible to complete the history of the family from 1638 to 1670. About 1660 we find John Tillman living on the west side of the Kennebec River in Maine, taking the oath of allegiance to Charles II of England. It is recorded that the Tillman family originally came from Southern France to Germany, thence to England. Nothing has been found to indicate relationship between the Tillman family and the Tilghman family of Kent, Md. However, some of the descendants of Gideon Tillman changed the spelling of their name to Tilghman.

There is a coat-of-arms for the Von Till of Reinland (meaning the territory along the river Rhine), and the people of, and from there, were called the "Till-mann." The coat-of-arms shows a quartered shield, two lions and two griffins, a helmet, a crown, and five ostrich feathers for the crest.

THE TILLMAN FAMILY

GIDEON TILLMAN

GIDEON TILLMAN, first son of Christopher Tillman, the Virginia emigrant, was born about 1640 in Accomac County, Va., and died May 9, 1720, in Somerset County, Md. He married February 15, 1681, Margaret Manen. Due to local usage of the family name in Maryland, many of the descendants of this member of the family spell the name as Tilghman. Issue: Gideon, born October 18, 1682; Solomon, born February 13, 1685, and died, unmarried, 1729; Elinor, born February 13, 1688; John Stephen, born September 15, 1690; Moses, born June 6, 1692; Elizabeth, born January 5, 1694, and Joseph, born 1700.

GIDEON TILLMAN, son of Gideon and Margaret (Manen) Tillman, was born October 18, 1682, and died 1760, in Somerset County, Md. He married about 1702. JOHN TILLMAN, believed to have been the son of Gideon (the 2nd) Tillman, was born 1705 in Somerset County, Md., and died 1809 in Preble County, Ohio. About 1740 he moved to Craven County, N. C., and then to Orange County, N. C. Before data was found on the family, which showed that Roger and Gideon were living in Virginia prior to 1700, many of the families labored under the impression that we were of German descendants. Attention is called to the names in this family, and that of Stephen Tillman's family, which strengthens the claim of relationship. Issue: Tobias, born June, 1751.

nel Butler, and was granted a pension by the Federal Government on March 22, 1833. After the Revolutionary War he and his family, including his father, settled in Botetourt County, Va. and then Ohio.
